Nursing Home Care in the Hudson Valley

Insights Into Care, Quality, & Safety in 2026

1. Essential Staffing — County, State & U.S. Comparisons

Staffing levels are the strongest predictor of nursing home quality and resident safety. Although nursing homes are paid — and agree — to provide enough staff to meet residents’ needs, many facilities operate with insufficient staffing, often prioritizing profits over care.

This table presents average staffing levels for Hudson Valley nursing homes, by county. It includes Total Nursing Hours Per Resident Day (HPRD), Registered Nurse (RN) HPRD, and Expected Staffing Levels for both measures. “Expected Staffing” is calculated using evidence-based benchmarks and each facility’s own self-reported resident acuity data, reflecting the staffing levels needed to properly care for their residents.

Note: Average staffing in Putnam and Westchester counties is skewed upwards as a result of the presence of specialty nursing homes in both counties.
