

Hudson Valley Nursing Home Update

Your Voice Matters in Hudson Valley Nursing Homes!

Did You Know?

More than 12,000 people live in nursing homes across the Hudson Valley and they deserve safe, dignified, and respectful care. But, all too often, residents and families face serious challenges: short staffing, poor care, and weak enforcement of critical protections.

That's why the Long Term Care Community Coalition invites you to our Hudson Valley Nursing Home Updates – free bi-monthly programs that provide tools, data, and expert insights for families, advocates, and local stakeholders.

Whether you're a caregiver, advocate, long-term care ombudsman, legislator, or just someone who cares, your participation makes a difference!

What You'll Gain:

- Learn how to spot and report neglect or unsafe conditions
- Get the latest data on staffing, quality, and safety in Hudson Valley nursing homes
- Free fact sheets and tools to support better care

RESIDENT ACTIVITIES

Meaningful activities are essential to residents' quality of life, helping to support physical, cognitive, emotional, and social well-being while reducing isolation. Federal law requires nursing homes to have sufficient, qualified activities staff to provide person-centered activity programs that meet each resident's interests and needs.

RIGHTS VIOLATIONS

Nursing home citations under federal tags for resident rights (F550) and quality of life (F675) reflect serious failures to provide person-centered care. Tracking these deficiencies is essential for holding facilities accountable and advocating for quality care.

Visit LTCCC's Data Center to look up citations in your facility.

DIGNITY & QUALITY OF LIFE KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

Quality of life is a fundamental principle that applies to all care and services provided to facility residents. Each resident must receive and the facility must provide the necessary care and services to attain or maintain the highest practicable physical, mental, and psychosocial well-being, consistent with the resident's comprehensive assessment and plan of care.

LONG TERM CARE COMMUNITY COALITION

CONSUMER FACTSHEET: DIGNITY & QUALITY OF LIFE STANDARDS

There are many standards which nursing homes are required to follow in order to ensure that residents receive appropriate care, have a good quality of life and are treated with dignity. This factsheet discusses some of the important standards in place to ensure that residents live with dignity and have access to appropriate quality of life services. It also provides considerations for how YOU can use them to advocate for your resident.

It is important to remember:

- Quality of life and quality of care cannot be separated – they are related and interdependent.
- Just because someone is elderly or disabled does not mean they have given up on enjoying life.
- No matter what our needs are, or how our abilities have diminished, we all want to live with dignity and have control over our lives, even if our health necessitates limitations.

Following are standards with descriptions excerpted from the federal regulations. (Notes: The brackets below provide, for reference, the citation to the federal requirement (42 CFR 483.24 F-675) and the F-tag number used when a facility is cited for failing to meet the requirement. Emphases added.)

I. QUALITY OF LIFE (42 CFR 483.24 F-675)

Quality of life is a fundamental principle that applies to all care and services provided to facility residents. Each resident must receive and the facility must provide the necessary care and services to attain or maintain the highest practicable physical, mental, and psychosocial well-being, consistent with the resident's comprehensive assessment and plan of care.

INTENT

The intent of this requirement is to specify the facility's responsibility to create and sustain an environment that humanizes and individualizes each resident's quality of life by:

- Ensuring all staff, across all shifts and departments, understand the principles of quality of life, and honor and support these principles for each resident;
- Ensuring that the care and services provided are person-centered, and honor and support each resident's preferences, choices, values and beliefs.

II. RESIDENT RIGHTS (42 CFR 483.10)

- The resident has a right to a dignified existence, self-determination, and communication with and access to persons and services inside and outside the facility;
- A facility must treat each resident with respect and dignity and care for each resident in a manner and in an environment that promotes maintenance or enhancement of his or her quality of life recognizing each resident's individuality. The facility must protect and promote the rights of the resident.

- The facility must provide equal access to quality care regardless of diagnosis, severity of condition, or payment source. A facility must establish and maintain identical policies and practices regarding transfer, discharge, and the provision of services... for all residents regardless of payment source.

THINGS TO CONSIDER:

- Following are expectations that have been published by the federal government (CMS) in its Guidelines for nursing homes:
 - Grooming: Residents as they wish to be groomed (e.g., hair combed and styled, beards shaved/trimmed, nails clean and clipped).
 - Dressing: Encouraging and assisting residents to dress in their own clothes appropriate to the time of day and individual preferences rather than hospital-type gowns; Labeling each resident's clothing in a way that respects his or her dignity (e.g., placing labels on the inside of shirts and clothing).
 - Respecting Independence & Dignity in Dining: Facility and staff should avoid:
 - For-day use of plastic cutlery and paper/plastic dishes;
 - Feeding over residents (except by resident choice);
 - Feeding/converting only with each other rather than with residents while they are seated.
 - Private Space & Property: (e.g., not changing to station without knocking on doors and requesting permission to enter; closing doors as much as possible; not moving residents' personal possessions without permission).
 - Resident Choice: Residents' personal preferences in dining, clothing, and other matters should be respected. Residents should be asked what they want to eat, and if they are unable to decide, the facility should assist them in making a choice.
 - Resident Choice in Rooming: Residents should be asked what they want to eat, and if they are unable to decide, the facility should assist them in making a choice.
 - Resident Choice in Rooming: Residents should be asked what they want to eat, and if they are unable to decide, the facility should assist them in making a choice.
